

Why don't we drop everything from the testing, then those guys making the big bucks won't even have to leave the house. Just send the checks by mail and a license to anyone that wants one.